Head of the department: Dr. Feridun Turkman

Activities of the center CEAUL in 2010 since the last reporting of activities of 2009

All three research groups of CEAUL show excellent collaboration with scientists within Portugal and outside Portugal including many countries. The numbers of investigators and collaborators have again increased. The number of papers published in 2010 in peer-reviewed and non-peer-reviewed journals as well as books or chapters in books is still on the outstanding high level as in earlier years. The three groups of CEAUL are contributing equally to the very strong research activity during the year 2010.

To maintain such an excellent activity, the grant is very well invested to reach the reported output of the investigators and contributors. Without the funding, the participation at scientific conferences and the exchange with international well-known scientists would be impossible. The funding is necessary for the research continuation of CEAUL. We expect that the same funding is granted to the center CEAUL in the same way in future years.

We think that the investigators and contributors of CEAUL are working under rather difficult conditions, concerning teaching at university and research support. We expect that center CEAUL is strongly supported and funded.
